270 DAYS IN JAIL. William Hamilton Will Have a Chance to Meditate on His Evil

William Hamilton of Carter street, recognized by many that know him as a bad actor, was before Judge Back in the town court Monday afternoon, charged with intoxication, breach of the peace and resisting an officer. Another charge might also have been listed against him. Hamilton was arrested Sunday evening by Officer Arthur Logee after it had been reported that he had been seen standing on the veranda and look-ing into the windows of a residence at the corner of Main and Winter streets. the corner of Main and Winter streets. Hamilton resisted arrest, tore the officer's coat and incidentally hit him on the head. All the way down Main street, on the way to the police station, he biasphemed scandalously, shocking the Easter congregations returning from evening service. His was not a day of joy or peace. Hamilton was given a sentence aggregating 270 days; for intoxication he was given 30 days, for heach of the peace 180 days and for breach of the peace 180 days, and for resisting an officer 60 days. CARMOS FORS Said to Be Man Who Shot Caesas Carmos Fors is the name of the man given to the police as guilty of shooting Caesar Stafano at Williams-ville Sunday night. He is still at liberty and may be able to make his way out of this section of the country, although the officers made every effort to apprehend him after the affray. Stafano is quoted since the shooting as saying that he had had no previous troubles with Fors, but there are believed to be some facts leading up to the affair that have not yet been secured. A young Italian, answering the description of the missing Fors, was in Danielson Monday morning and was interviewed by the police, but he succeeded in establishing his identity as a resident of Dayville.

At a later afternoon session of the court Gay was sentenced to serve 180 days in jail, 30 of which were for intoxication, 30 for carrying concealed weapons, 30 for shooting firearms in the borough, 30 for causing damage to private property and 60 for resist-

The reason for the adjournment mentioned above became evident inter in the afternoon when Ell Dagenals and Herman Bastien, the latter keeper of a restaurant in the Winkleman block were brought into court charged with making illegal sales of liquor. They pleaded not guilty and their cases were continued until Wednesday morning. It is understood that they were brought into court as the result of evidence secured from Gay and William Hamilton both taken to fall Monday. Another outcome of the jail Monday. CONDITION CRITICAL.

Caesar Stafano Lingering Between Life and Death-Bullet Removed. Caesar Stafano shot at Williams-

Caesar Stafano shot at Williamsville Sunday night, was lingering between life and death at the Day-Kimball hospital Monday night with little hope for his recovery. Although probably mortally wounded, he was not unconscious and asked one of the physicians during the day whether or not he was going to die.

The bullet that was shot into his left side, and passed through to the right side, from where it was taken out just under the skin, did probably fatal injury. The operations performed upon Stafano by Dr. S. B. Overlock, assisted by Dr. Edward F. Perry and Dr.

intestine, stomach and liver had been perforated and that a severe internal hemmorage had taken place, handfuls of clotted blood being removed. The lungs, however, were not penetrated as
